Villa Alberquillas is an impressive three-storey villa occupying an elevated corner position on the edge of the sought-after El Mirador urbanisation, just a few minutes from the picturesque white village of Alcaucín and the entrance to the Sierra Tejeda National Park. Offering uninterrupted south and south-west facing views across the surrounding mountains and countryside, this spacious property combines privacy, practicality and outstanding potential. Set on a fully urban plot with mains water, electricity, concrete and tarmac access, the villa is ideally positioned for both permanent living and holiday use. The peaceful location enjoys virtually no passing traffic while remaining only a short drive from shops, restaurants, bars, a medical
